Nominee For Commissioner Has Strong Local Support

W. Dick Reamer was chosen as one of the Republican nominees for County Commissioner. Mr. Reamer incidentally figured in one of the warmest political frays that ever characterized a Westmoreland county nomination. He was opposed by a great machine and that he won out is proof beyond a doubt that he is held in high esteem by the electorate all over the county. Four years ago Mr. Reamer was chosen as one of the board of commissioners and his conduct of the office and his agreeable and courteous manner in public life have won for him many friends who proved loyal supporters at the primary election.

Following the nomination he has grown in strength and has gained the respect of hundreds of voters who cast their ballot against him and they will be loyal to him at the election next week.

Mr. Reamer has always been a friend of this town. He owns property here and has kept in close touch with the town's progress and development ever since it started and wherever there was an opportunity for him to assist in its welfare and advancement he always manifested a willing spirit. He has been assisting the Board of Trade to get the state highway from West Newton to Greensburg completed and this is on his schedule for action early in his next administration.

A local voter said yesterday: "Well I have never voted for Dick Reamer, but I am going to vote for him this time." Continuing he remarked that Mr. Reamer is without question one of the best, if not the best commissioner that was ever in the court house, for he is always ready and willing to "do things."

The Commissioner's office is the most important office in the county in relation to the taxpayers. There is hardly a man in the county that does not come in personal contact with this office. Therefore it behooves us to place men there who have a business experience and whose judgment will properly safeguard the taxpayers. Mr. Reamer's experience and his fitness for this office commends him to the voters at this time. Vote the straight Republican ticket and you will be voting for Mr. Reamer.

Law Effective Soon

Representatives of the State Department of Labor and Industry under the direction of Commissioner John Price Jackson, are making systematic arrangements to explain the provisions of the new Child Labor Law, and co-operating with school districts and employers to put it into effect.

As a result of this co-operative work, plans are being perfected in almost every school district to meet the provisions of the law that requires children employed, between the ages of 14 and 16, to attend school for at least eight hours a week between 8 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon of any week day excepting Saturday. The flexibility of the law permits the eight hours of instruction to be arranged largely at the convenience of the employer.

Arrangements for the continuation school provided for by the law will be completed as soon as possible.

Superintendent of school systems in the larger cities of the state are already collecting data regarding the number of child workers in their communities to determine what provision must be made for the establishment of these continuation schools.

Compilation of all data collected may disclose the fact that comparatively few children, between the ages of 14 and 16 employed in industries in Pennsylvania will lose their positions after January 1, when the law requiring those children to attend continuation schools, goes into effect. Many employers are now making plans to comply with the provisions of the law and send their childworkers to school for the required eight hours a week.

Representatives of the Department of Labor and Industry will discuss the subject at a meeting of the School Directors' association of Allegheny county in December.

At present no information is yet available when the matter will be taken up in Washington county, but the plans of the department insure that it will be attended to carefully and intellignetly in due course of business.

Turner Classes Active

The attention of the people of this city and surrounding towns has been attracted to the excellent work being accomplished by the gymnasium classes of the local Turn Verein. Over four hundred students have been enrolled in the various classes and four nights out of each week the classes are instructed by Charles Meyer, recognized as one of the leading physical culture and gymnasium instructors of western Pennsylvania.

Monday and Thursday evening from 4 to 7 o'clock, a class of 150 children, young boys and girls are given instructions in various drills, physical culture work and all other work in the gymnasium. On the same evening the 200 active Turners are given their instructions in the more advanced gymnasium work. In this large class are many of the most prominent business men of the town who find this work a pleasure and a great benefit to their health after spending the day in the shop.

On Wednesday evening the gymnasium is turned over to the ladies and under the direction of Mr. Meyer, nearly a half hundred of the fair sex are benefitting their minds and body with light physical culture work.

The physical training committee composed of John Dries, William Bertleman and Stephen Dworatzek, attend to the business end of the affair and leave nothing undone towards making the work pleasant for both the instructor and pupils. Every season they hold a series of dances and with the proceeds add new apparatus to the gymnasium and make ny other improvements. The more advanced pupils are selected to attend the annual contests and in past years have returned with their share of prizes. The committee will hold a dance next Tuesday evening and all members and friends of the gymnasium classes are invited to attend and a good time is assurred everybody.

All To Help

Plans are now completed for the reception of candidates here Thursday evening and in addition to the Republican nominees, many prominent members of the party will be present. Voters of the town and vicinity are urged to be present at the Kilroy hotel where the headquarters will be. At 7:30 o'clock the automobile parade will assemble at the P. & L. E. depot and will pass along the principal streets of the town. The Louhi band will furnish the music for the occasion.

Hon. Edward E. Robbins of Greensburg, James Beacom and other prominent Republicans interested in the success of the party have consented to be present. No arrangements have been made for any speaking, but it may be that remarks will be introduced during the evening. Nearly all of the nominees have been heard from and have signified their willingness to be present. They seem greatly pleased with the activities of the Young Men's Republican club and the attitude of Monessen toward the entire Republican ticket.

Pretty Social Affair

One of the prettiest affairs of the season occurred last evening at the home of Mrs. John Menefee on McKee avenue when the Ladies Aid of the St. Paul's Lutheran church held a Hallowe'en social. Over a hundred guests were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The guests came masked and in grotesque costumes. The home was tastefully decorated in keeping with the occasion and a dainty lunch which included pumpkin pie, ginger cake, apples and cider was served by the hostess. A merry time was enjoyed by the masqueraders and many amusing situations arose before the masks were lifted at 9:30 when lunch was served.

Today at the Olympic—"Neal of the Navy," William Hamilton's greatest story of romance and thrills is also Pathe's latest and greatest motion picture production. Sentence Wife Beater

Joseph Bryan, a colored barber of Twelfth street, was sentenced to spend the next 30 days in the county jail at Greensburg this morning after he had admitted his guilt on a charge of beating his wife. The police were called to the Bryan home on Fourteenth street last evening by the cries of Mrs. Bryan and when they were refused admittance, they broke down the door. Bryan and another man were in the room while the wife unable to arise, was lying on the bed suffering intense pain from injuries received at the hands of her husband.

At the hearing this morning Bryan readily admitted his guilt, stating that his wife had called him vile names. He was given a choice of paying a $10 fine and costs or spending a month as the guest of the county and his financial prospects not being very bright, he chose the trip to Greensburg.

Halloween Specials

Mikalariaus & Berbatis, the old reliable candy manufacturers, have made ample arrangements for the Hallowe'en festivities and will have a fresh supply of pure home made taffy, chocolates, bon bons, fudge, etc. on hand. They will have special assortments for Hallowe'en parties, including candies and fresh nuts of all kinds Pop corn, novelties and many other delicacies that will prove just the right thing for this occasion will be on sale and the public is cordially invited to see their assortment now on display in their windows. Ice cream will be delivered to any part of the town. Just phone your order. 6-2t

Local High School Rooters May Have Special Train

Local friends of the Monessen High school football team are arranging to secure a special train to carry them to the game at McKeesport Saturday afternoon. A committee has been appointed and nearly a hundred people have signified their willingness to board the train and have paid $1.08, the fare for the round trip. The train will leave the local P. & L. E. station early in the afternoon and will not depart from McKeesport until after the game has been played and the passengers have plenty of time to reach the station.

The team realizes that this will be the hardest game of the season, as it will be pitted against a team much its superior in weight, but hopes to keep the score down if unable to defeat the Tube City aggregation. Last Saturday the McKeesport team defeated the strong Allegheny High school team by a score of 10 to 0 and so far this season they have not met defeat.

The splendid record of the local team speaks for itself, they having won every game, two of which were played away from home and with teams much heavier and more experienced. The loyalty of local people to the High school team has been their biggest asset and with a large crowd of rooters accompanying them on their trips, it has greatly assisted them in winning games and adding confidence that has made the aggregation the leading contenders for the Monongahela valley championship, which carries with it the championship of Washington county.

Why Change of Heart

George B. Shaw is none other than the George B. Shaw, who in 1909, importuned hundreds of Republicans to vote for Judge Doty, whose views on the license question were well known to Shaw and to every man in the county. Mr. Shaw then put forth the argument that Judge Doty should be re-elected first, because he was a good judge and was deserving of a third term; and second, because he was a Democrat, and that the minority party ought to have a representative on the bench.

How does it come about now that Mr. Shaw has persuaded himself to believe that Judge McConnell would not be re-elected, when it is conceded by every man that he has been a good judge, and when the gospel of the non-partisan judiciary still lives. It must be and surely is because Mr. Shaw is not sincere, but is a politician seeking place for himself. If the voters of the county want a politician on the bench rather than a ripened lawyer, then Mr. Shaw is the man for them. adv. 1t

Vote for Sell

The office of county controller is one of the most important the electors will be required to fill at the election to be held Tuesday of next week. The Republican party has nominated John S. Sell who is at present serving his first term in the office and who has filled it so ably and so satisfactorily that there can not be a question raised regarding any position he has taken. When a question arose which involved legal technicalities and doubt as to which course to pursue, Mr. Sell sought a court opinion and thus avoided any criticism that might have come to him. He has been careful in every official act and his administration has been clean and above criticism and every interest of the taxpayers has been conserved and safeguarded and it would be a sad mistake to make any change in this office at this time. In speaking of Mr. Sell, the Greensburg Morning Review says editorially:

"During the past four years much business of a very important nature has been transacted by this county. There is much unfinished business—much for which the plans have been partially prepared. To carry this work out in a comprehensive, economical and sensible manner, it is necessary to have ripe judgment and officials of determination and integrity. Every taxpayer should counsel with himself carefully on this question. Of all the county officials to take a deep interest in these plans and to have the final word on many of the most important matters of business is John S. Sell. During his incumbency in the office of county controller, Mr. Sell has mastered the intricacies of that office with a mind schooled in the most conservative financial circles. Closely in touch with the mercantile business, banking and farming, he is not a professional politician but a business man who carries business methods into county affairs. Mr. Sell is human in feeling some honor in serving his county in this important office. To return him to the office of county controller means that an official will be there who has an intimate knowledge of much very important business that is to be transacted for Westmoreland county during the next four years. His personal record is too well known to require any special reference and his ability to fill the office in a manner acceptable to the voters of Westmoreland county is best evidenced by the favorable comment that has been passed on his one administration."

Man's Legal Right

"Has a man a right to beat his wife?" Decent and self respecting people say no. But a Supreme Court has decided that he has a legal right to beat her. A short time ago a strange case came under the observation of the writer. A man had used the rod of correction on his wife. She resented it and brought suit. The case was settled in the lower courts against her, the Judge contending that in-as-much as the marriage obligation was an agreement that the wife should love, honor and obey, and in-as-much as she had disobeyed her husband, he had a legal right to whip her. The case was taken to a higher court and the decision upheld. So then this man was within his legal bounds, but he had betrayed a confidence that destroyed his home and made him despised by his fellow man.

A man has a legal right to buy all of his goods where he pleases. He can pay more or less for them and nobody has a legal right to question his act. But is it good policy? Does the man who works in a mill, mine or factory want to do something that is not popular in his community even though it does give him some personal satisfaction? Very few of them do. And whenever Monessen people become acquainted with the fact that they can buy just as cheap in the local stores, the business will be left here.

A great many men are laboring under a wrong impression with regard to our local merchants and when this is properly explained away, the town will come into its own in a mercantile way.

Monessen's payroll is enormous and there is no reason why any business house here should not flourish if the business that belongs to the town is left here. Some of our merchants need to advertise. They say they don't believe in it. Some of this kind are still among us, others have dried up and blown away But the leading merchants of the town are top notchers in the advertising game. If every business man in Monessen would keep his finger on the public pulse, speak to the people, reason with them, they would heed the call and we would prosper to a greater extent than at present.

A writer in the National Municipal Review calls attention to the "danger in a multitude of organizations," and gives an astonishing list of leagues, societies, associations, organizations and federations. This multiplication of organizations is a direct result of the initiative and referendum and other popular government ideas. We have distrusted the state and taken things into our own hands, with the result that organization in the effort to our ideas adopted into laws has become a baneful influence. The chief evil of such organizations, however, is to be found in the multiplicity of statutes which express the zeal of petty groups and small minorities, and not the considered judgment of the mass of the community. Such laws are largely unenforced or unenforceable, and they themselves create an evil far outweighing the good they were intended to accomplish, even if that good were in reality attained. It is a pity that so much civic feeling is dissipated by its diversion into so many petty channels. Laws should express the main stream of community thought and feeling, no more.

GOOD RECORD MADE BY HERMAN HAMEL

While a Member of the Westmoreland County Poor Board for Four Years

He Is Now A Candidate For County Commissioner.

Herman Hamel, candidate for election to the office of County Commissioner, was a Director of the Poor for the years 1904, 1905, 1906 and 1907.

The minutes of thePoor Board show that the method now in practice of paying bills and accounting for receipts and expenditures originated during his tenure of office.

The first step was a "Motion by Mr. Hamel, seconded by Mr. Saxman; That all warrants in payment of bills passed, be fully made out before being signed by the President and Secretary of the Board." This innovation put a stop to the signing of warrants in blank.

The Poor Board then considered it wise to put the Superintendent of the home under bond because of the great amount of money coming into his hands. This minute appears:

"Moved by Mr. Hamel, seconded by R. M. Loughrey, that the Superintendent be required to give bond with good security in the sum of $5,000.00 to be approved by the Board, unanimously carried."

The course pursued by the Board at that time applying to the moneys of the county is disclosed by the following minutes:

"It was moved by H. Hamel, seconded by R. M. Loughrey, That the Superintendent be directed to make settlement at the end of each quarter during the year, with the County Controller, for funds received during the quarter and pay over to the County Treasurer the full amount in his hands at each settlement. Unanimously carried."

"It was moved by H. Hamel, seconded by Loughrey: That the Superintendent make a monthly report of receipts and expenditures for the preceding month at the first regular meeting of the Board in each month for its approval. Unanimously carried."

"It was moved by H. Hamel, seconded by R. N. Gay: That the Superintendent provide and keep a daily itemized account book of receipts and expenditures. Unanimously carried."

An examination of the books showing moneys paid into the county Treasury by the Poor Board working under these changed methods, shows a great saving of money for the County when compared with the amounts previously turned in.

The records show that the following amounts were paid in for the few years previous to Mr. Hamel's tenure of office and the years following the action of the Board above set forth.

Paid to County Treasurer:

1900	.....	$1,970.48
1901	.....	3,657.71
1902	.....	933.96
1903	.....	1,227.25
1904	.....	2,574.03
1905	...Notice Increase...	9,539.48
1906	During Hamel's Term	9,539.88
1907	.....	10,506.05
1908	.....	10,251.02
1909	.....	10,518.82
1910	.....	10,203.98
1911	.....	13,042.11
1912	.....	13,177.69
1913	.....	16,677.98
1914	.....	10,101.09
1915 to Sept. 27th	.....	14,367.71

Herman Hamel proved his ability to do business and save the taxpayers money while Poor Director. Give him a chance on the Board of County Commissioners.

Vote for him. Get your neighbors to vote for him It is a business and not a political issue.

The Records of the Poor Board are open to all and Mr. Hamel can show many other instances in which he saved money for the taxpayers.

We, the undersigned Ex-Poor Directors, who served on the Poor Board with Herman Hamel, certify to the above.

EDITORIAL COMMENT STRONGLY FAVORS HERMAN HAMEL

Following is a very complimentary editorial from the Mt. Pleasant Journal, Herman Hamel's home paper. He has one of the Democratic nominations for county commissioner:

"Herman Hamel of Laurelville, a candidate for County Commissioner, has a good public record as will be seen by a careful reading of the statement made on the first page of this issue by his fellow members of the Westmoreland County Poor Board in regard to reforms. in the adoption of which he was largely instrumental during his four-year term as a director.

"The changes in the management are still in force and that they have saved the county thousands of dollars there are plain figures to prove. But there was one thing, although he failed to accomplish it, which goes to show his foresight and level head in the conduct of public affairs and it is this:

"He tried hard to have an electric light plant built at the mouth of the coal bank on the poor house farm to supply not only the Home with light and power, but as well the new court house then being erected, also the jail. Had this been done instead of being built at the court house, another big slice would have been cut from the county's expense account. But for some unknown reason, the proposition failed to appeal to the County Commissioners and went by the board. The Journal refers to the matter in the hope that it will add still more weight to the many reasons why Mr. Hamel should be elected to the more important office of County Commissioner."

DAVID A. MILLER, Register.

Otis Harlan, King of American Comedians, Writes of the Personal Side of Charles Hoyt, Playwright

By OTIS HARLAN.

In the spring of 1887, at the Neil House, Columbus, Ohio, I first met the late Charles Hoyt. It was before I ever thought of going on the stage, I had been in Columbus for the wedding of a school friend. Jim Miller, an old circus man, then manager of the old Metropolitan opera house, Columbus, introduced me to Hoyt.

That evening in the historic old hotel I entertained Hoyt and some acquainances with some comic "cut ups" for which I had a peculiar talent I lived then at Zanesville, Ohio. I was about to leave for home next day when Hoyt called To make a long story short, he put me in his play "A Hole in the Ground." He was in Columbus rehearsing for the opening.

I remember that Hoyt was taken into the Elks lodge in Columbus the night before we opened. Flora Walsh was Hoyt's leading woman and he married Flora on July 25, 1887. She was seventeen on July 24th and Hoyt was twenty-seven on July 26 and they selected the day between for the wedding day. Charlie Reed, an old minstrel man, Fannie Stevens and I were at the wedding, which occurred at Charleston, N. Y.

"A Bunch of Keys," Hoyt's first success was suggested by Willie Edowin, who in later years starred in "Florodora." Hoyt never got a cent of royalty for writing the play.

"A Parlor Match" was developed by Hoyt from an old skit called "The Book Agent." This skit belonged to Evans & Hoey. The first real financial success that Hoyt enjoyed was his play "A Rag Baby." He had written a piece called "Cezelia," founded on a mythical patent medicine. It was never produced right and it became the theme for the last play Hoyt ever wrote, "A Dog in a Manger."

In 1884 Hoyt wrote "A Case of Wine," which was played in Texas by Charles Bisnop. "A Case of Wine" later proved the foundation for Hoyt's play "A Texas Steer," recently filmed with great success by the Selig Polyscope company.

While we were playing "A Hole in the Ground," opening September 14, 1887, in the Fourteenth Street theater, New York city (my first appearance in New York city as an actor), Hoyt started writing "A Midnight Bell," which was first produced in Frisco by L. R. Stockwell in his stock company Hoyt saw its possibilities and then produced it in the East.

Charles Hoyt had a way of writing about his players' personality and it was while "A Hole in the Ground" was on the boards that he wrote "A Brass Monkey" and put me in to do the song "Razzle Dazzle." The writer of this song, Wm. Barton, was so pleased that he made me a present of the song "The Wild Man of Borneo," which we did in "A Brass Monkey."

Hoyt always produced his pieces for two weeks in the spring around New England, then remained for a week in Jersey City, then closed for the summer almost ready to produce the piece without change in the fall. Any alterations in the plot he would make in the summer months.

Hoyt has an unusual method of developing his plays He would begin by telling his intimate friends about an idea and it was wonderful how he would enlarge it. Every time Hoyt told his idea he had some new comedy interest and he built up his plays by telling it over and over again. He would then sit down and write an entire show in two or three days for he had all the construction in his mind.

I have seen Hoyt sit in our Pullman sleeper, even in the day time, with the window shade drawn down over his head, looking out, but seeing nothing but the funny ideas that were tumbling out of his fertile brain. He was undoubtedly the most prolific and most successful playwright that American has ever known. He wrote all of his manuscripts in long hand, later having them typewritten

Hoyt was a man difficult to approach. His most intimate friends never called him "Charlie." As a man he was cold and reserved. Frank McKee, his partner, even called him "Mr. Hoyt." He was also most economical with the pay roll. For three years I drew $25 weekly. He liked to split the difference in salaries as for example: One actor demanded $40 weekly and got $35, another asked for $35 and got $32.50. But outside business hours, in the cafe or the dining room, he corralled all checks. In business he was close, in social life unusually liberal.

Flora Walsh, loved by everyone, died in Boston while we were playing "A Texas Steer." Hoyt's second wife, Caroline Miskel Hoyt, died in New York city, while we were playing "A Day and a Night."

Poor Charles Hoyt died at Charleston, N. H., in November, 1900. Governor Rollins of New Hampshire had been petitioned to investigate his case by the people who asserted that Hoyt was not insane, but was being kept in charge for some ulterior purpose. I had called upon Hoyt previously and knew that he was not in his right mind. I have seen him shave himself, in his later years, while wearing a hat and overcoat in sultry weather. He was undoubtedly losing his mind for several years before anyone appreciated the fact. He had a horror of the fleur de lis. Did he spy the device at any time or place he would beat a hasty retreat. He could be very sarcastic at times

Hoyt had a great fund of stories and his humor was wonderful. Everything seemed to strike his funny side. Even the names of his characters were studies in true humor.

"A Trip to Chinatown" was Hoyt's first failure. It failed to make any money on its preliminary presentation. Hoyt took the show to New York city, engaged the Madison Square Garden, put in a good cast and it went over and was the biggest hit he ever had Society had never seen that class or stuff in those days.

There is no case on record where Hoyt ever wrote a play for a star. He didn't like to write for people he did not know well. He started "A Black Sheep" for William Hoey and with reluctance. Before the contracts were signed there was a hitch and Hoyt tore up the contract. Then he sent for me. He told McKee in my presence that he would rather write the play around my personality. "A Black Sheep" was a great success.

"A Contented Woman" was written for his wife. It is as up-to-date today as it was years ago, for it deals with suffragettes. You have perhaps noticed that all of the Hoyt's comedies start with "A" It was just another one of his peculiarities

It is worthy of notice that one of the Hoyt plays "A Black Sheep," in which I achieved one of my biggest hits as an actor, is to be released as a Selig Red Seal Play. Little did I believe when acting in this comedy that I would again appear in the production as a motion picture star.

FEEL YOUNG!

It's Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets For You!

Beware of the habit of constipation. It develops from just a few constipated days, unless you take yourself in hand.

Coax the jaded bowel muscles back to normal action with Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Don't force them to unnatural action with severe medicines or by merely flushing out the intestines with nasty, sickening cathartics

Dr. Edwards believes in gentleness, persistency and Nature's assistance.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets open the bowels; their action is gentle, yet positive. There is never any pain or griping when Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are used. Just the kind of treatment old persons should have.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two occasionally and have no trouble with your liver, bowels or stomach. 10c and 25c per box All druggists.

Mrs. J. F. Leonard, 7 McKee avenue, Monessen, says: "I was bothered by a dull, heavy pain in my back for several years. While doing my housework, my back throbbed just like a toothache. If I stooped over, the pain caught me and I could hardly straighten. I often got so dizzy that I had to sit down. My head ached and my eyes were effected. I felt tired and languid all the time. I tried everything but didn't improve until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Hirsch Drug Co. The second box drove away the trouble. Occasionally I takea few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills when I work hard or catch cold. They never fail to help me."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

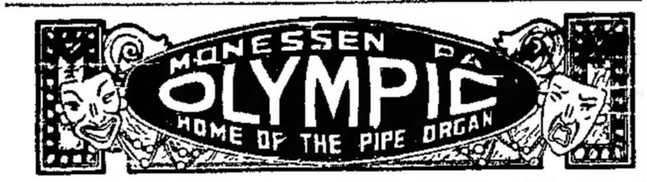
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®



In short—This week's program: —

WEDNESDAY— Another wonderful day, and when we say wonderful, we mean what we say, and we understand the meaning of the word wonderful thoroughly. We have at last after 36 weeks of wandering adventures, expenditures, expeditions and thrilling acts of the beautiful Pearl White. her triumph and the disclosure of the mysterious Mr. X. The last of this episode discloses a surprise, better relished on the screen. Suffice to say that it is a fitting end to one of the biggest and best serial pictures that ever delighted a fastidious public, and on the same day starts the first episode of the world's famous Pathe picture, by Balboa company, the same people who made the serial "Who Pays." The name of our next serial is "Neal of the Navy." It is an innovation in serial pictures, featuring Lillian Loraine, beautiful and in the latest style of fashion, with William Courtlech, Jr., and a wonderful cast. It isn't possible to raise your hopes too high for this serial to satisfy you. On the same day, Wednesday, we have two more of the famous Universal comedies a Joker, "No Babies Allowed" with Max Asher and Gale Henry, and one of L KO's comedies, "Under New Management" a screaming comedy with the beauties, Gertrude Selby and Alice Howell, in two reels.

Thursday and Friday are so solid, so pure, that we can not say any too much about these days.

THURSDAY—Our great Broadway Universal feature "Judge Not," a great drama of western life, written by Peter B. Kyne, filmed in six great acts, featuring the Broadway Universal favorite, a beautiful and emotional actress, JULIA DEAN. The same day we have also two Universal comedies of high merit.

FRIDAY—Another wonderful day and guaranteed in every point. Popular Plays and Players present for the Metro company and they present for us, the virile American dramatic star, Emmet Corrigan in the story of a magnificient sacrifice "Greater Love Hath No Man" from the book by Frank L. Packard, in five acts. On the same day "A Kentucky Idyll," in two reels, featuring J. Warren Kerrigan, the famous actor; also one of Nestor's comedies "And the Best Man Won," featuring Billie Rhodes and Neil Burns.

SATURDAY—As usual the 22rd episode of "The Diamond From the Sky," full of thrills and adventures and wandering actions and the hope of winning the $10,000 offer. The next is "The Yellow Star," one of Bison's Universal features, the kind we have very Saturday, in three reels. Animated Weekly with the latest news and one very good comedy.

Now sit down, look over, think a little and certainly you will admit that the Olympic theatre in the small village, Monessen, in comparison with Pittsburgh, is one of the most complete theatres in America, comparing it only with Pittsburgh theatres, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago theatres, etc. And this is not boosting, bluffing or notorious advertising. It is the plain unvarnished truth, and nothing but the truth. Here it is and it can stand investigation and comparison at any time from any one if he is the queerest person living upon the face of the earth.—Olympic.
